Washinglor Theraps.—Our citizens are much indebted to Manager Kunkel for the company and attractions which he has nevided at the theatrs, both of which are influierly superior to those hitherto offered. Hiss Eateman dropped the bowl and dagger last night and appeared in Bourcicault's fine comedy of "London Assurance," as "Lady Gay Bpanker." We have only to say that she is equally as fine in comedy as tragedy, and in the part which we have just named, has few, if any, superiors. We have seen those who with whip in hand would cut and slash the boots of those around, and force an ecstacy to a Passion, in hopes of receiving the gallery plaudits; we have seen "Lady Gays," who would treat their "dollys" more like wooden dolle than husbands, and evince to the audience more affection for their horses than for their companions, but Miss Bateman does not forget that she is representing an Egglish noblewomen, and in refusing to cater to the ignorant frequenters of the gallery is much to be commended in these days of the prostration of the legitimate drama.

To-night Miss Bateman appears as "Lady To-night Miss Bateman appears as "Lady

Forn's Ather. Str. — Last night the great tragedian, Forrest, appeared in the character of

"King Lear," and it is needless for us to say that it was magnificently rendered. To-night Porrest appears in another great Shakupearian character of "Richard the Taird." We hope no one will miss the opportunity afforded in the present engagement of the great Forrest of hearing the greatest living tragedian.

Canysanur,—The very disagreeable weathor of the last few nights, seems not to diminish the crowd of visitors at the Canterbury. The truly worderful performance of the Delevante brothers automishes every beholder, and we consider them at the head of their profession.

An excellent programme is offered for tonight, and the entire company will appear in their tavorite acts. The great success of the side splitting negro farce "Oh! Hush, or the Virginia Cupid," induces the management to present it again this evening.

Ob Fin. Lows' Hall...—Kunkel's Opers Troupe still continues to delight the lovers of fun, presenting each night as uncession of acvelless more amusing and entirely different from those ever presented in this city, by other companies sly ing themselves "minstreles." The weather has but little effect on the pairons of Kunkel's troupe, if appears; last night there were more ladies present than in any other place of anusement, indeed, it appears that Old Fellows' final
is now the popular resort of the fair sex.— Harry Lehr, Nelse Seymour, and the entire company will appear to night in an entirely new programme. The "Jodly Blacksmiths," the "Troubadour," and a "Leap for Life," are among the new burleeques for this evening.
The management are busily preparing a "monster concert," which will be given in a few days.

Drankenness.

In looking over the police reports of yesterday and part of the day previous, we found thy cases of drunkenness reported in the different stations of this city! Surely is not this an alarming state of things in view of the physical, mental, and moral degradation which this abominable vice produces? When will men learn to be men, and not brutes? "Ol that man should put an enemy in his mouth to steal away his brains," was the exclamation of the immortal Shakspeare, many years ago, when the vile compound of death was not so abomobly adulterated by deadly drugs as at the present day.

bly adulterated by deadly drugs as at the present day.

Let the moral and religious portion of the community wake up to the full realization of the avils which surround us in this city in consequence of the "vile compound which madens and kills."

Take away this prolific cause of evil, and not only those fifty cases reported above, but nearly all other police cases would be done away with, including the arrests for disorderly conduct, profanity, selling liquor on the Sabbath, inghting, larony, incondurium, mirreder, &c., &c. Let something be done to slevate the tone of outlide sentiment on the subject of dram drinking.

from the mass of ruins which is left on the ground where stood two of the finest iron front stores in our city.

The policemen of the fourth ward have been untiring in their attention to the ruins, isst they should blaze forth again. It requires the utmost diligence lest such should occur, especially in the night. The hone of the Perseverance Fire Company have been kept constantly ready for use, and are used frequently to extinguish the dames which sometimes show themselves. This property is said to be on ground valued higher than any in the city, which is a good quaranter that it will not long be unoccupied, but that other buildings as good as the former, will soon be erected on it.

An affecting aceae occurred at No. 424 Fif-teenth street, on Tuerday. Edith Duval, a fine noisered girl, the property of Mr. had lived a long time in the family, and both her-self and the family have been fearful that her owner would take her out of the Dissrict, be-fore the emancipation bill became a law. This fear was such upon the poor girl that she, with great reluctance, waited on the door. On Treadiny, on waiting on the door she saw her master, and the sad truth was revealed to the lamily, that she was to be forced away, by the loud shricks and waitings of the girl. She was taken away and the tears and protestations of the family.

Larceny.

Licyd Cole was sent to jail for the larceny of $17 in money from Mr. John A. Baker, under the following peculiar circumstances: Mr. Meker got so wet at the fire on Monday as to measurate a change of dothes, and Lloyd took possession of the wet clothes long enough to abatract a tunch of keys from the pocket, with which he robbed the safe of Mr. Bartholma, of which store Mr. Baker is derk. Patrolman Leach was sent to Gole's residence with a search-warrant, but foiled to obtain any evidence of the robbey. But the next day he went again, and after a diligent search, count of the following the bunch of keys in the stove-pipe. He took Cole into contody and brought him before Justice Bonn, who sentenced him as above, for trial at court.

Mr. Joseph E. Williams, a very intelligent colored man, formerly an agent of the Haytien scheme's de enigration, but who is convinced that the scheme is a failure, is now in this city for the purpose of conferring within the limits of the United States. His idea is to petition Congress to assign his race some territory for their exclusive use and control. He would be pleased to confer with the pastors of the calored churches in this city, or any one else who hinks favorably of his project, in order to have some concert of action in this matter of so much importance to that class of citizens of the United States. He can be found in West B street, Capitol Hill, near the Capitol.

A flew Disease.

A New Disease. A fiscase is becoming prevalent in town of a somewhat singular observates. An acrid, burning sensation is first noticed in the mouth and threat; soon a sense of beat and pain is experienced in the stomach, with names, which frequently induces vomiting, either in composition with purging or previous to it. It always cocurs soon after eating, and results in great physical prostration. Who can account for it?

The Rev. J. H. M. Lomon, formerly paster of Gorauch Chapel, on the Island, now stationed in Alexandria, was married yesterday aftermoon to Miss Mary A. Tanks, a limitation and socomplished young lady of this city. The interesting ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Phelps, Presiding Elder of this district, at the residence of a relative of the bride, on the Island.

Charles E. Dedley, of Georgetown, who was arrested on suspicion of stealing goods at the recent fire on the ayenus, and had been committed to jail for a further hearing before Justice Thompson, was brought before that magistrale yesterday afternoom. The Justice, after hearing all the facts in the case—there being no evidence to criminate—dismissed the charge.

tax the Northern men for the laboring men they employ?" As soon as Judge Kelly, of Pennsylvanis, could get the floor, he made the following scathing reply:

"I desire to say a few words in reply to the gentleman from Kentucky. In arguing his case that gentleman saked," Why not tax the Korthern men for the laboring men they employ?" There is no analogy between the caser, and the supposed analogy is as offensive as it is false; nearly three fitths of the first twenty tive years of my life were spent in the workshop, but I was not property. My mother could not be carried to market by my employer to be sold, nor was I a thing for the shambles. The home of the northern laboring man is his saccutary. The couch upon which his drughter aleeps and the resulting place of his wife are worth more than the life of any man who darea invade them. But it is not so of the slave girl or the slave, wife. The apprentice boy of the North is reacgnized as an immortal bing. Mesons are adopted to develop his intellect; train his moral mature, and fit him to social duties and a sphere beyond this world. But the slave is treated as property, and your law prohibits the development of his intellect, his character, or his manly attributes.

"Sir, let not the nurthern laboring man be compared to there creatures of law whom it is felony to teach to read the word of God. There is, I say, no analogy between the cases. These men, women, and children are held as things for the market. They have, it is said, no rights which a white man is bound to respect. They can no more receive and retain under the law in advertisements they are enumerated with horses, cows, and other cattle. Tell me not that
